Some artists like to paint landscapes, but Lawrence-based artist Stan Herd creates with the landscape. His work, which he refers to as "Earthworks," are sometimes acres large. But Herd's main concern is not about the size of his work, but the scope of its impact.

"As a human being on the planet, I want to feel good about myself," Herd said. "I want to feel good about having a nice glass of wine in the evening and I want to feel part of the community trying to push things in the right direction. For me to feel good, I have to be able to create
