Figure 1.33. The visualization process at a very high or primitive level view.

Figure 1.34. The graphics pipeline.

Figure 1.35. One example of the visualization pipeline. There are many variants, but all transform data into some internal representation within the computer and then use some visual paradigm to display the data on the screen.

Figure 1.36. One view of the knowledge discovery pipeline or process.